Sturgis Legends Ride Deadwood – A Few Early Pics

August 4, 2009

Beach will be back very soon with some more commentary. The scenery is beautiful out here and the people are super nice. We hope to bring you as close to the actual experience as possible without physically being here. Talk to you soon.

Hey, It's Beach. These shots were taken in Deadwood before the rally began. We have lot's of photos to share with you throughout the time we have been here including the Legends Ride, The Buffalo Chip, The new Monkey Rock, The Sreipper Juice Tent, The Lichter photo exhibition, the Black Hills, the people who come here who really make the event and much more. It will take us several days to post all the stuff so: please check back each day. We are here for two more days and then home. There are various opinions on how large the turnout was(is) but it looked pretty full in Deadwood and at The Chip but not as much driving down Lazelle Street in Sturgis. It's always a good time for us and I am quite sure that most feel the same way.

Tonight we have the Metzler award event, then Michael Lichters exhibition of his work and then a Fondue dinner and wine tasting. Life is tough. This is just a taste of a lot of photos,
