

Tanks A Lot!

The popular "Pinche" tank is finally being made available to the cash-paying public courtesy of Gard Hollinger from LA County Choprods. Designed to mount "Frisco" style (high on the backbone of the frame), this trick fuel cell features an inset panel on each side. The one-piece bottom also features sunken mounts. A choice of gas caps and its location, as well as the style and location of the petcock bung, is available for custom builds. Each tank comes complete with all the necessary mounting hardware. Pricing starts at $840, but be forewarned that the Buck Wild paintjob (same guy who did Broc Glover's "Breathe Easy Ride" raffle bike built by Cobra) does not come standard.
