

Daytona Biker Fusion Raised Over $24,000 for Soldier's Angels

Published by Cyril Huze March 16th, 2009 in Builders, Customs, Editorial and Events.

I guess the only thing missing (maybe not) in my former posts about the Seminole Hard Rock Roadhouse's Biker Fusion party during Bike week, was the amount raised. Now you know that more than $24,000 were raised (donated by sponsors, provided by auctions, including a $10,000 donation from Seminole Tribe of Florida leader Max Ocoola). The proceeds went to "Soldiers Angels" an organization whose philosophy is "May No Soldier Go unloved." Sgt. 1st Class Toby Nunn spoke on behalf of all of the soldiers and heroes Soldier's Angels supports. Ami James and Russell Mitchell took on the roles of auctioneers and raised thousands of dollars in the live auction of custom skateboards by Buck Wild and of Hard Rock Fender Guitars especially designed by Billy Lane and Ami James. And I remind you that Billy donated a 1976 Harley Shovelhead to Leon Roy a recipient of the "Purple Heart". And of course, next year we will do better (picture Ami James Auctioning A Custom Fender Guitar).