

Sucker Punch Sally's Unveils 5 New Custom Bikes

Published by Cyril Huze February 10th, 2009 in Builders, Customs and Editorial.

Cincinnati. Another pole of attraction (I mean during the trade show, not after hours) was the Sucker Punch Sally's display where 5 new bikes were unveiled. One, dubbed "The Workingman", is similar to "The Traditional" but with a DNA Springer, Ultima transmission and solid color paint for $18995 and $1000 with a $1000 dealer incentive rebate program, so it will retail at $17995. The second bike is a Sportster built in an old school racer style. The 3rd one is a Triumph Thruxton that SPS customized for Fender Guitars. In addition Sucker Punch Sally's unveiled their two new bikes "Love" and "Hate".

These are prototype production bikes that will be offered on a limited basis through their dealer network with the idea being that some people want a full-blown production custom. They have been designed by Ami James (Miami Ink) and Christian Clayton (SPS). Sucker Punch Sally's (top left "Love". Top right "Hate". Bottom left "Sporty". Bottom right "Triumph". Picture of "Workingman" not yet available)

